

Town Connection

Town of Come By Chance

Council Review 2008

January 8, 2009
Volume 2, Issue 22

2008 has been another busy year. The 2009 budget has been adopted and we are pleased to announce that there are no increases in your taxes and we will continue with our 10% discount for seniors on property and water/sewer tax and a 20% discount on property tax for all residents if paid on or before June 30, 2009. We are going to try and put out a condensed version of the newsletter once a month for Council news only.

Some of the highlights for 2008 are:

Launch of our town website. Check us out at www.townofcomebychance.ca. If you have any concerns or ideas for the Town website, please feel free to contact us.

The Alexander Gilbert's war monument was successfully moved to a new location in the St. Paul's Anglican/United Church parking lot. The Remembrance/Rededication Service was well enjoyed and respected by all. Many of Alexander Gilbert's family attended and were very grateful for the dedication of our town.

The Town Square was completed with the history boards and benches being installed and Tidy Towns making it beautiful by adding flowers around it.

The Town held its annual appreciation BBQ for the volunteers of our community. This year we donated $25.00 on behalf of the volunteers to the Daffodil House which brought the contribution to $1400.00. Our volunteers are what make our community a place to be proud of.

The Town secured a family physician in our community and will be actively working to keep one in our community for the long term.

The 50+ group has been growing with activities such as a trip to Woody Island and weekly get together.

The Town also installed a Mioxx pilot that has been very successful in maintaining chlorine residual by converting natural salt to chlorine. We no longer use liquid javex.

The Town Municipal Garage has been completed and is now used by Town maintenance and community groups.

The 4th part of the walking trail has received much work and is accessible for walking; ditching and culverts will be completed in the spring. Our thanks are extended to Peter Cleary for volunteering his time on this section.

Water Treatment Plant Update:

The Town of Come By Chance is in the process of installing a pilot of a membrane water treatment system that uses membranes to filter the water and produce clean and clear drinking water. The pilot is a great tool to be able to see what the membrane system is like and to confirm that it will work for our water needs. When the system is up and running we will be holding an open house so all residents can come and see the system and to get answers to any questions that you may have. We will inform you of a date and time in the near future. It will take a few weeks to hook up the system.

Inside Story Headline

This story can fit 150-200 words.

One benefit of using your newsletter as a promotional tool is that you can reuse content from other marketing materials, such as press releases, market studies, and reports.

While your main goal of distributing a newsletter might be to sell your product or service, the key to a successful newsletter is making it useful to your readers.

A great way to add useful content to your newsletter is to develop and write your own articles, or include a calendar of upcoming events or a special offer that promotes a new product.

You can also research articles or find "filler" articles by accessing the World Wide Web. You can write about a variety of topics but try to keep your articles short.

Much of the content you put in your newsletter can also be used for your Web site. Microsoft Publisher offers a simple way to convert your newsletter to a Web publication. So, when you're finished writing your newsletter, convert it to a Web site and post it.

Inside Story Headline

This story can fit 100-150 words.

The subject matter that appears in newsletters is virtually endless. You can include stories that focus on current technologies or innovations in your field.

You may also want to note business or economic trends, or make predictions for your customers or clients.

If the newsletter is distributed internally, you might comment upon new procedures or improvements to the business. Sales figures or earnings will show how your business is growing.

"To catch the reader's attention, place an interesting sentence or quote from the story here."

Some newsletters include a column that is updated every issue, for instance, an advice column, a book review, a letter from the president, or an editorial. You can also profile new employees or top customers or vendors.

Inside Story Headline

This story can fit 100-150 words.

The subject matter that appears in newsletters is virtually endless. You can include stories that focus on current technologies or innovations in your field.

You may also want to note business or economic trends, or make predictions for your customers or clients.

If the newsletter is distributed internally, you might comment upon new procedures or improvements to the business. Sales figures or earnings will show how your business is growing.

"To catch the reader's attention, place an interesting sentence or quote from the story here."

Some newsletters include a column that is updated every issue, for instance, an advice column, a book review, a letter from the president, or an editorial. You can also profile new employees or top customers or vendors.

Inside Story Headline

This story can fit 150-200 words.

One benefit of using your newsletter as a promotional tool is that you can reuse content from other marketing materials, such as press releases, market studies, and reports.

While your main goal of distributing a newsletter might be to sell your product or service, the key to a successful newsletter is making it useful to your readers.

A great way to add useful content to your newsletter is to develop and write your own articles, or include a calendar of upcoming events or a special offer that promotes a new product.

You can also research articles or find “filler” articles by accessing the World Wide Web. You can write about a variety of topics but try to keep your articles short.

Much of the content you put in your newsletter can also be used for your Web site. Microsoft Publisher offers a simple way to convert your newsletter to a Web publication. So, when you’re finished writing your newsletter, convert it to a Web site and post it.

Lorem ipsum dolor sit amet, consectetur adipiscing elit, sed diam nonummy nibh euismod tincidunt ut laoreet dolore magna aliquam erat volutpat.

Ut wisis enim ad minim veniam, quis nostrud exerci tution ullamcorper suscipit lobortis nisl ut aliquip ex ea commodo consequat. Duis te feugifacilisi. Duis autem dolor in

Inside Story Headline

This story can fit 100-150 words.

The subject matter that appears in newsletters is virtually endless. You can include stories that focus on current technologies or innovations in your field.

You may also want to note business or economic trends, or make predictions for your customers or clients.

If the newsletter is distributed internally, you might comment upon new procedures or improvements to the business. Sales figures or earnings will show how your business is growing.

“To catch the reader’s attention, place an interesting sentence or quote from the story here.”

Some newsletters include a column that is updated every issue, for instance, an advice column, a book review, a letter from the president, or an editorial. You can also profile new employees or top customers or vendors.

Inside Story Headline

This story can fit 100-150 words.

The subject matter that appears in newsletters is virtually endless. You can include stories that focus on current technologies or innovations in your field.

You may also want to note business or economic trends, or make predictions for your customers or clients.

If the newsletter is distributed internally, you might comment upon new procedures or improvements to the business. Sales figures or earnings will show how your business is growing.

Some newsletters include a column that is updated every issue, for instance, an advice column, a book review, a letter from the president, or an editorial. You can also profile new employees or top customers or vendors.

Some newsletters include a column that is updated every issue, for instance, an advice column, a book review, a letter from the president, or an editorial. You can also profile new employees or top customers or vendors.

Company Name

Street Address

Address 2

City, ST ZIP Code

Phone: 555.555.0125

Fax: 555.555.0145

E-mail: E-mail address

YOUR LOGO
HERE

Your business tag line here.

We're on the Web!

Web site address

This would be a good place to insert a short paragraph about your organization. It might include the purpose of the organization, its mission, founding date, and a brief history.

You could also include a brief list of the types of products, services, or programs your organization offers, the geographic area covered (for example, western U.S. or European markets), and a profile of the types of customers or members served.

It would also be useful to include a contact name for readers who want more information about the organization.

Back Page Story Headline

This story can fit 175-225 words.

If your newsletter is folded and mailed, this story will appear on the back. So, it's a good idea to make it easy to read at a glance.

A question and answer session is a good way to quickly capture the attention of readers. You can either compile questions that you've received since the last edition or you can summarize some generic questions that are frequently asked about your organization.

A listing of names and titles of managers in your organization is a good way to give your newsletter a personal touch. If your organization is small, you may want to list the names of all employees.

If you have any prices of standard products or services, you can include a listing of those here. You may want to refer your readers to any other forms of communication that you've created for your organization.

You can also use this space to remind readers to mark their calendars for a regular event, such as a breakfast meeting for vendors every third Tuesday of the month, or a biannual charity auction.

If space is available, this is a good place to insert a clip art image or some other graphic.

